Desperate Prayers

Series: Church Music
Text: Psalm 5

Heidelberg Catechism

Question 10: Does God permit disobedience and rebellion to go unpunished?

Answer: Certainly not. God has a wrath towards the sin in which we were born as well as the sins we personally commit. As a just judge, God will punish them both now and in eternity¹ having declared: "Cursed be everyone who does not obey all the things written in the book of the law."²

Today's Psalm

For you bless the righteous, O
Lord; you cover him with favor
as with a shield.

Psalm 5:12

Psalm Five

There are many hours of research and preparation each week for the sermon. After the writing is complete, there is a lot of material and notes that are not included.

It was decided for this summer series in the Psalms that some of that material be placed here. It will not only supplement the lesson but provide deeper insights.

Let us give to God the mornings of our days and the morning of our lives. Prayer should be the key for the day and the lock of the night. Devotion should be both the morning star and the evening star.

Charles Spurgeon

David's praying is not only an example to the Christian but also prefigures his greater son, Jesus the Messiah, who often withdrew alone to pray early in the morning and sometimes spent whole nights in prayer

Philip Eveson

Because (David) is the recipient of God's covenant love, he prays for himself; because of God's care for the righteous and the threat of the wicked, he prays for the banishment of evildoers.

Christopher Ash

The shield does not only defend the whole body, but it is the defense to the soldier's armor also; it keeps the arrow from the helmet as well as the head, from the breast and also the breastplate. Thus faith, it is the amour upon amour, a grace that preserves all other graces.
