Psalm 95

This is a prophecy of Christ, which is extensively dealt with in the letter to the Hebrews. It foretells the time of the New Testament and of the voice of the gospel. In sum, it teaches us Christ and draws us to him and to the Word of God as to the right way of serving him. And it warns us against the example of the unbelieving fathers in the desert, who would not enter the Promised Land because of their unbelief and disrespect.

Martin Luther

Summaries

Look back, my soul, with holy dread,
And view those ancient rebels dead,
Attend the offered grace today,
Nor lose the blessing by delay

Seize the kind promise while it waits,
And March to Zion's heavenly gates;
Believe, and take the promised rest;
Obey, and be forever blessed.

Isaac Watts

"Come, Let Our Voices Join to Raise"

It is a Psalm of invitation to worship. It has about it a ring like that of church bells, and like the bells it sounds both merrily and solemnly, at first ringing out a lively peal, and then dropping into a funeral knell as if tolling at the funeral of the generation which perished in the wilderness.
